

Experience more than English at Pueblo Ingles' volunteer programs in the heart of the spectacular Spanish countryside.

What is Pueblo Ingles?

A unique opportunity to experience Spain's culture, really get to know its people and take part in an extremely rewarding volunteer scheme; all in your own language. This 8-day English immersion program, where no Spanish is allowed, features one-to-one conversations, group discussions, theatre skits and surprise activities which equate to up to 12 hours of talking a day! This effective method of learning a language out-rivals the results achieved in a traditional classroom and offers the Spaniards an encouraging environment to hone their conversational skills. Pueblo Ingles is not only an exploration of the English language, Spaniards and their culture but of yourself!

Who are the participants?

Our Spanish visitors come mainly from multinational companies and need to improve their English for their jobs. There is also a sprinkling of participants who pay themselves because they see English as a necessity in their lives - either for further self-improvement, career progression or world travel. They want to learn the intricacies of our colourful language and with a group of native English speakers from New Zealand, America, Britain, Canada and Australia they really are put to the test with the assortment of accents - some of which they have never encountered before! The native English speakers come from all walks of life from 22 years of age and above. We aim to form each group with as much diversity as possible to expose the Spaniards to a variety of topics and vocabulary.

Where, Why and How?

Our venues are in the most beautiful and historical countryside regions of Salamanca, Soria and Jaen. Here you can take in the delights of the unspoilt landscape while enjoying typical Spanish home-cooked cuisine in the company of some fascinating characters - with whom you will forge bonds for a long time to come. Your commitment to the Spaniards and their learning goals will be generously rewarded. You'll be provided with high-standard full board accommodation and transport by coach from Madrid to one of our spectacular villages. Programs run all year round, including programs for Teens

Who do we look for and how do you apply?

We are looking for outgoing personalities who would like to exchange their professional and personal experiences with warmth in their heart and a skip in their step. If this sounds like you, we would be delighted to receive your application via our website at www.puebloingles.com where you will also find out more about our program and how Pueblo Ingles really is more than English.
